

THROUGH THE LENS

DESIGN IDEAS FROM OUR PHOTOGRAPHERS

Reflections from the field

Our contributing photographers—Lincoln Barbour, Ken Gutmaker, Susan Teare, and Brian Vanden Brink—are talented individuals who spend their days photographing the interiors and exteriors of beautiful, well-designed homes. In our “Through the Lens” blog at FineHomebuilding.com, they share with us photos from some of their favorite shoots. In this gallery, we’ve selected a few of those images, along with the photographers’ observations about some of the projects and their experiences capturing them.

Location Lincoln, Vt.

Designer MB Architecture and Design, mbarchitectureanddesign.com

Builder Silver Maple Construction, silvermapleconstruction.com

Photographer Susan Teare

“ My challenge in getting this evening shot was to hike with my equipment over a stream and through a field and then set everything up before it became too dark. The autumn chill and hooting of owls made for a peaceful, beautiful night I will always remember vividly and fondly with this photo that to me says ‘home.’ ”

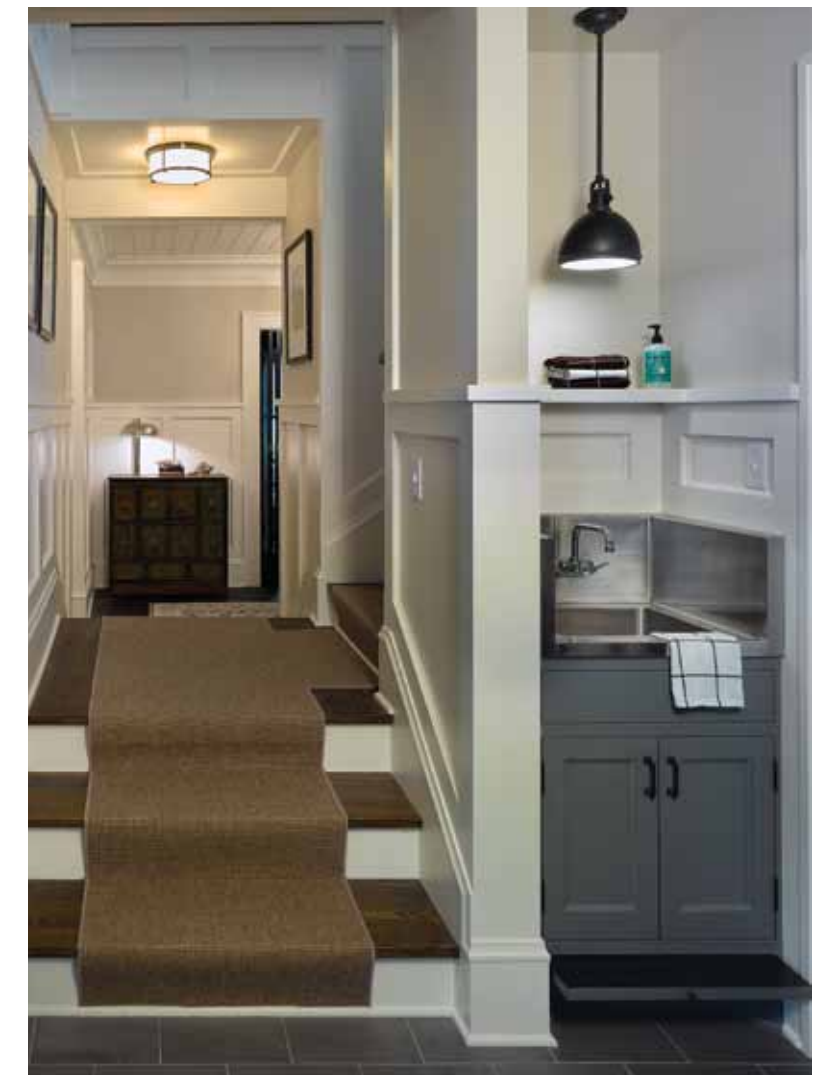

—Susan Teare

Location Minneapolis

Designer Rehkamp Larson Architects, rehkamplarson.com

Builder JS Johnson & Associates, jsjohnsonandassociates.com

Photographer Ken Gutmaker

“ Realizing the need to house an extensive collection of books in a very small guest cottage, architect Paul Krueger made good use of the stairway and incorporated bookshelves into this handsome space. ”

—Brian Vanden Brink

Location Martha's Vineyard, Mass.
Designer Krueger Associates, kruegerassociatesarchitects.com
Builder William Meegan Fine Carpentry
Photographer Brian Vanden Brink

Location Shelburne, Vt.
Designer and builder Peregrine Design/Build, peregrinedesignbuild.com
Photographer Susan Teare

Location Portland, Ore.
Designer and builder Mosaik Design & Remodeling, mosaikdesign.com
Photographer Lincoln Barbour

“ This midcentury-modern home features a unique kitchen situated between two wings of the house. I like this view because seeing the outdoors is a big part of what makes the kitchen so great. In some ways, it redefines what it means to have an open kitchen. ”

—Lincoln Barbour

Location Santa Barbara, Calif.
Designer Nick Noyes Architecture, nnarchitecture.com
Builder Below Magid Construction, belowmagid.com
Photographer Ken Gutmaker

“ Most of the rooms open onto the central courtyard, an integral part of this home.
The magic develops when the indoor and outdoor spaces become one. ”

—Ken Gutmaker

Location Portland, Ore.
Designer Ogawa Fisher Architects, ogawafisher.com
Builder Lorence Brothers Construction
Photographer Lincoln Barbour

Location Falmouth, Maine
Designer Scott Simons Architects, simonsarchitects.com
Builder Dorsey Construction
Photographer Brian Vanden Brink

